

US-Russia Networking Collaboration

August 8, 2000
8:00 AM to 12:00 PM
ACCESS Center,
Washington, DC

Agenda

Introduction	Greg Cole, F&P/UT Center for International Networking Initiatives
NSF Support of High Performance Networking Infrastructure and Applications	Steve Goldstein, National Science Foundation
DOE/Kurchatov Institute Collaboration using Advanced Network Services; the Russian Backbone Network (RBnet)	Alexey Platonov, RBnet (participating via video-conference from Moscow)
ORNL/Kurchatov Institute Collaboration using Advanced Network Services	Jay Jernigan, Oak Ridge National Laboratory
ANL/Russian Programs Requiring High Performance Communications	Jeff Binder/Joe Braun, Argonne National Laboratory
The US-Russian MIRnet and CIVnet programs	Natasha Bulashova / Greg Cole, F&P
NASA Programs with Russia; potential application of high performance network services	Jeff Smith / Andy Germain, NASA
US DOS Programs with Russia	Susie Baker /Jonathan Cebra / Michelle Johnson, US Department of State
US DOE Nuclear Cities Initiative	Margot Mininni, US DOE

World Bank Programs with Russia,
Distance Learning Initiatives

Maureen Miller, World Bank Institute

Digital Video Conferencing

Larry Amiot, Argonne National Laboratory

University of Missouri-Columbia
Programs with Russia:
Telecommunications for Technology
Transfer and Distributed Learning

Eugene B. Krentsel, University of Missouri-Columbia

CRDF Programs in Russia

Siri B. Oswald, Civilian Research and Development Foundation (CRDF)

Roundtable Discussion

Natasha Bulashova/Greg Cole, F&P

Closing Comments

Steve Goldstein, National Science
Foundation

Additional Information

The meeting at the ACCESS Center on Tuesday, August 8, 2000 will begin at 8:00 am through Noon. Directions to the center and parking information are listed at the following URL:

<http://www.ncsa.uiuc.edu/VEG/homepages/tcoffin/ACCESS/directions.html>

ACCESS is located at 901 North Stuart Street, suite 800, in the Ballston Metro Center Office Building in Arlington, VA. The building is just steps away from the Ballston metro and you may enter the building from the metro entrance near the Tivoli Deli. Walk straight into the lobby area and elevators to the 8th floor will be further ahead on your right. You may also come in the front entrance at 901 North Stuart, next to Starbucks. The elevators will be ahead next to the building information officer. If you are using the parking garage, exit the elevators at lobby level walk across the lobby to the elevators near the entrance at Stuart Street.

There will be hot and cold beverages and assorted pastries with fresh fruit in the morning.