

Good day. I am contacting you because I believe that we can form a very lucrative business partnership. One of our clients is interested in investing your country. The total amount of funds available for investments is One Hundred Million US Dollars. Due to my client's political position, he wants this to be carried out carefully and very discretely. This means all the information we transmit in the course of this transaction must be kept strictly confidential.

In order to fully evaluate your capability to handle this transaction, I will proceed to ask you the following questions.

- 1. Are you familiar with handling large volume of funds before in the past? This does not necessarily have to be as much as the amount described above
- 2. Do you have bank account that can accommodate these funds without raising any eyebrow?
- 3. Do you have any project (s) that require funding? This may be an existing project or a future project. If you do, please give a short summary of the projects. We will be asking for a more detailed executive summary later.

Please answer the questions above and provide as much as much details as possible. Upon receiving your response and our client is satisfied with your answers, we will provide you with more details on how to proceed with this transaction. Also, send your direct telephone number and the best time to reach you. I hope to hear back from you and looking forward to a successful, positive and mutually beneficial relationship with you.

Regards,

Mr. Toby Stone.
